

Instructions for Schedule P (Form 1120-F) for the 2007 Tax Year

List of Foreign Partner Interest in Partnerships

General Instructions

Purpose of Schedule

Schedule P (Form 1120-F) is reported in three parts. Part I is used to identify all partnership interests a foreign corporation directly owns that give rise to a distributive share of income or loss effectively connected with a trade or business within the United States (“ECI”) of the foreign corporation. In Part II, the corporation is required to reconcile its distributive share of ECI and allocable expenses with the total income and expenses reported to it on Schedule K-1 (Form 1065). In Part III, the corporation’s outside basis in its directly-held partnership interests that include ECI in the corporation’s distributive share is apportioned between ECI and non-ECI under regulations section 1.884-1(d)(3) to determine the average value treated as a U.S. asset for interest expense allocation purposes under section 1.882-5. The apportionment of the outside basis to ECI as of the current and prior taxable year end is taken into account in determining the average apportioned value and in determining the corporation’s U.S. assets for purposes of computing the branch profits tax. The U.S. assets, and partner share of booked liabilities and interest expense of the partnership are also coordinated with the interest expense allocation computations filed with Form 1120-F on Schedule I (Form 1120-F).

Who Must Complete Schedule P.

A foreign corporation that is directly or indirectly engaged in trade or business within the United States, is required to file Schedule P (Form 1120-F) for all directly-owned partnership interests that have ECI included in its distributive share of income reported to the corporation on Schedule K-1 (Form 1065). If the foreign corporation treats any of its distributive share of partnership net income or loss from a partnership that is not engaged in trade or business within the United States as ECI with another trade or business of the corporation, the corporation’s entire distributive share of items of income and expense must be also be reconciled between ECI and non-ECI and reported on Schedule P.

A foreign corporation may be engaged in a trade or business within the United States either directly through its own non-partnership related activities or indirectly through the activities of one or more partnerships in which the corporation owns a partnership interest. In addition, if a corporation owns an interest in a partnership that is itself deemed engaged in trade or business within the United States as a result of the partnership’s own directly or indirectly owned interest in another partnership (“lower tier partnership”), the corporation is also treated as engaged in trade or business as a result of such interests. See IRC section 875(1). The foreign corporation’s distributive share of income from a domestic partnership and certain foreign partnership interests is reported to the partner on Schedule K-1 (Form 1065), together with the corporation’s allocable share of partnership liabilities. If the partnership has ECI, it is responsible for withholding quarterly estimated taxes on the foreign partner’s distributive share of estimated ECI under section 1446 and to report the amounts to the foreign partner for the taxable year on Form 8805 (Foreign Partner's Information Statement of Section 1446 Withholding Tax). If a partnership is required to report ECI on Form 8805 to a foreign corporate partner, the corporation must reconcile its entire its distributive share of income and expenses reported on Schedule K-1 (Form 1065) from such partnership on Schedule P (Form 1120-F).

Exceptions from filing Schedule P.

Do not file Schedule P if the corporation does not have any ECI with respect to its combined distributive shares of income from all directly owned partnership interests. A foreign corporation is also not required to file Schedule P (Form 1120-F) if it is not engaged in trade or business within the United States, or it files a protective income tax return on Form 1120-F to declare that it does not have income effectively connected with a trade or business within the United States, or its business profits are not attributable to a U.S. permanent establishment pursuant to an applicable income tax treaty. See the requirements for protective tax returns of foreign corporations under regulations section 1.882-4(a)(3)(vi). Protective Election on Schedule P. See instructions for line 20 below for making a protective partnership outside basis apportionment election with a protective return.

When and Where To File

Schedule P (Form 1120-F) is attached to the foreign corporation's Form 1120-F and filed in accordance with the due date for filing the income tax return. See instructions to Form 1120-F for the time, place and manner for filing the foreign corporation's income tax return.

Part III - Foreign Partner's Average Outside Basis Under Regulations Sections 1.882-5(b) and 1.884-1(d)(3)

Part III reports the corporation's outside basis for each partnership interest identified in Part I of this Schedule P (1120-F) for purposes of determining the amount the corporation includes as a U.S. asset in Step 1 of the interest expense allocation under section 1.882-5. The outside basis is determined and adjusted under the rules applicable to the determination of the corporation's outside basis in the partnership for branch profits tax purposes under regulation section 1.884-1(d)(3), except that the amounts entered on lines 15 through 19 are the average values rather than the determination dates used under the section 884 regulations for branch profits tax purposes. If the corporation is not exempt from the branch profits tax under an applicable income tax treaty, attach a schedule showing the determination of the corporation's outside basis in accordance with the requirements of lines 15 through 19 for an averaging period that shows the apportioned outside basis for the beginning and ending determination dates of corporation's taxable year.

Line 15. Section 705 Outside Basis. Enter in the corresponding column on line 15, the corporation's average value of the outside basis (otherwise determined under section 705) of its interest in each partnership reported in Part I. The average value is determined using the most frequent averaging period for which data is reasonably available. See section 1.882-5T(b)(3) and 1.882-5T(c)(2)(iv).

Line 16. Partner Liabilities Included in the Corporation's Outside Basis. The corporation's outside basis reported on line 15 is adjusted in line 16 to conform the amount of liabilities the corporation includes in the determination of its outside basis to the proportionate amount of the corporation's distributive share of interest expense with respect to the partnership's liabilities. This adjustment is made only for purposes of determining the corporation's outside basis included in the interest expense allocation and branch profits tax computations. The adjustment is not made for other federal income tax purposes such as for determining the corporation's gain or loss from disposition of the partnership interest.

Line 16a. Adjustment for directly allocable interest. The outside basis is reduced by the average amount of liabilities that give rise to directly allocable interest expense in accordance with section 1.882-5(a)(1)(ii)(B). Enter the portion of the partnership liability that is subject to the direct interest expense allocation rules under section 1.861-10T(b) or (c) and is subject to exclusion from the determination of the corporation's average U.S. asset values under section 1.882-5. See section 1.861-10T(d). Line 16b. Enter the average amount of the corporation's share of all other partnership liabilities it otherwise takes into account under section 752 in determining its outside basis in its partnership interest. Line 16c. Add lines 16a and b and enter the amount on line 16c. This amount is the corporation's combined average total share of partnership liabilities for the year. Line 16d. Subtract the amount on line 16c from line 15 and enter the amount on line 16d.

Line 17. Enter the corporation's average partnership liabilities or portion thereof, for the year for which the corporation receives a distributive share of interest expense for the year. See section 1.884-1(d)(3)(vi). Also, enter the amount of liabilities reported on line 17 on Schedule I (Form 1120-F), line 8, column (b).

Line 18. Partner's Adjusted Average Outside Basis in Partnership. Add lines 16d and 17 and enter the amount on line 18. The amount on reported on line 18 is the corporation's adjusted outside basis that is eligible for apportionment between ECI and non-ECI.

Line 19. Partner's Outside Basis Allocable to ECI. Enter the amount on line 19 of the corporation's average outside basis reported on line 18 that is apportioned to ECI. Also enter the amount on Schedule I (Form 1120-F), line 5, column (b). See regulations section 1.884-1(d)(3)(i) for the elective requirements for apportioning outside basis on mandatory proportionate income or asset method. For purposes of determining the proportion of the partnership interest that is a U.S. asset, a foreign corporation may elect separately for each partnership interest, to use either the asset method or the income method described in regulations section 1.884-1(d)(3) (ii) and (iii). If the corporation does not timely elect either method in the first year the corporation has a distributive share of ECI from the partnership, the Director of Field Operations may make the elections on behalf of the corporation. See section 1.884-1(d)(3)(iv) and the instructions to line 20, below. Note: The required timely-filed election under section 1.884-1(d)(3) for apportioning outside basis between ECI and non-ECI also applies to lower-tier partnership interests that are not required to be identified and reconciled to Schedule K-1 (Form 1065) on this Schedule P (Form 1120-F).

Line 20. Outside Basis Election Method. Enter the term "income" or "asset" on line 20, to indicate the elective outside basis apportionment method in determining the amount of the corporation's outside basis in its partnership interests apportioned to and reported on line 19. The allocation method is subject to a five-year minimum period election that must be made in the first year the partner has a distributive share of ECI included in the income reported on Schedule K-1 (Form 1065). The elective method chosen must be used for both branch profits tax and interest expense allocation purposes during the same five-year minimum period.

Asset method In general. —A partner's interest in a partnership shall be treated as a U.S. asset in the same proportion that the sum of the partner's proportionate share of the adjusted bases of all partnership assets as of the determination date, bears to the sum of the partner's proportionate share of the adjusted bases of all partnership assets as of the determination date. The proportion of U.S. assets to total assets of the partnership is determined as if the partnership were a foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States. Generally a partner's proportionate share of a partnership asset is the same as its proportionate share of all items of income, gain, loss, and deduction that may be generated by the asset. See regulations section 1.884-1(d)(3)(ii)(B) for non-uniform treatment of partnership items.

Income method. —Under the income method, a partner's interest in a partnership shall be treated as a U.S. asset in the same proportion that its distributive share of partnership ECI for the partnership's taxable year that ends with or within the partner's taxable year bears to its distributive share of all partnership income for that taxable year.

Protective election. If the corporation files a protective tax return under section 1.882-4(a)(3)(vi), and the partnership is not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the corporation need not file Schedule P and report amounts with its Form 1120-F. However, if it is later determined that the corporation's distributive share of partnership income is ECI with a trade or business of the corporation, the corporation will have failed to make a timely income method or asset method election with respect to such partnership for outside basis apportionment purposes if no other election disclosure is made. To preserve the right to allocate and apportion its outside basis under a chosen method, the corporation may make a protective election by filing Schedule P (Form 1120-F) and completing Part I and line 20 with the protective return filing on Form 1120-F. The protective election is effective only for a year in which a Schedule P (Form 1120-F) protective election attachment is also the first year in which the corporation's distributive share is in fact ECI with a trade or business of the corporation within the United States. The corporation need not complete Part II or Part III lines 15 through 19 with the protective election.
